THE ECHO 1963

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENT BODY

GREENSBORO COLLEGE

GREENSBORO,
NORTH CAROLINA

DR. RAYMOND A. SMITH

DEDICATION

Through the years, Greensboro College has been endowed and blessed by the presence of a gentleman, whose foremost objective has been the good of Greensboro College ond its students. To supplement the place that he has attained both on this college campus and in our hearts, we, the Class of 1963, now take this opportunity to express our appreciation in a more tangible form. Acknowledging his superior and inestimable contributions to our college, we dedicate the 1963 ECHO to

RAYMOND A. SMITH

A man whose manner is characterized by a quiet integrity without ostentation;

A man whose visage radiates a boundless faith;

A man whose devotion demands our respect and admiration;

A man whose genuine friendliness and interest are precious;

A man whose ideas are of value to this institution;

A man who is never too busy to listen;

. . . A man who has taught as good a lesson with his life as with his lips.

ORIENTATION COUNSELORS

The Orientation Counselors are junior and senior students who are chosen by the Vice-President of the Women's Student Government. It is their duty to welcome incoming freshmen and transfer students in the fall and to help them become situated in their new home. Each counselor is assigned a group of new students, and it is her responsibility to acquaint them with G. C. customs and regulations, as well as other things in their new world of college life.

Ruth introduces her counselees to their new home.

Administration

Greetings and best wishes to our 125th Anniversary Class! The college is grateful for the leadership you have given at this strategic time in our history.

The anniversary emphasis has been the forward look rather than a review of the long past. You who are today's students will become our future in the years ahead.

Your alma mater hopes that these four years have been only the beginning of your education. This college will have its reward when each of you continues a lively interest in the life of the mind and heart.

With every good wish,

Cordially yours,

Harold H. Hutson

Seated: Helen Brewer, Judy Passavant, Chairman; Jane Anna Culbertsan. Standing: Nancy Page; Tammy House; Clair Allyn. Not Pictured. Gib Johnson.

The purpose of the Honor Board is to help the individual student be seriously aware of his responsibility to uphold the high standards of honor which the students voted to have upheld in the written Honor System of Greensboro College. Cheating, stealing, and falsification constitute academic and honor violations handled by the Board, which renders a decision on the cases and administers penalties to the violators.

Judy Passavant is the Chairman of the Honor Board and Helen Brewer is the Secretary. The Dean of Students is the Advisor.

HONOR BOARD

WOMEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Women's Student Government Association is composed of all women students and is governed by two councils: the Judicial Board, composed of elected officers and class representatives; and the Legislative Board, composed of the dormitory presidents as well as the elected officers and class representatives. The purpose of this organization is to create an understanding of good citizenship on the college campus. It functions to encourage responsibility and integrity among all the women students.

The Men's Student Government Association functions as a representative organization of the majority of the men, both resident and non-resident. Its purpose is to enhance social and academic development, by giving the men the opportunity to govern themselves, and by stressing the necessity of academic preparation. High standards of honor, leadership and school spirit are upheld by the M. S. G. A. The president represents the men on the Co-Board and presides as chairman over the Men's Judicial Board.

MEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The National Student Association is an organization composed of 400 colleges and universities. Its purpose of discovering and attempting to solve campus problems is carried forth in its concern with student affairs locally, nationally, and internationally. This year one of the highlights of NSA activities was a human relations seminar, "The Changing South," held on January 11 and 12.

STATE STUDENT LEGISLATURE

Jimmy Kirk, Sue Black, Kay McCulloch, Anne Lourse Day, Mary Fritts, Dick Kenner.

The purpose of the State Student Legislature is to offer students in the colleges of North Carolina the opportunity to examine important issues appropriate to action by a state legislature and to discuss these issues in intelligent debate. This year Kay McCulloch headed the local SSL delegation.

Ruby Sluder
President

The purpose of the Student Christian Fellowship is to promote a more Christian atmosphere on our campus. Every G. C. student is a member and potential active participant. S.C.F. endeavors are channeled toward uniting our students in the desire to know full and creative lives through a growing understanding of God; toward seeking to understand Jesus and to follow Him; toward being loyal to His church and toward having a part in making the blessings of Christian life possible to all people.

FELLOWSHIP

SCF activities for this academic year have included spiritual life retreats in the fall and spring, Religious Emphasis Week in February, semi-monthly campus-wide vesper services, picnics, campus Christmas caroling, and numerous other activities bringing the campus together in a spirit of Christian fellowship.

A stunt-song around the campfire brings fun and enjoyment to the S.C.F. Spiritual Life Retreat.

Morlene Vest
Director

The Chapel Choir is a function of the Music Committee of the Student Christian Fellowship. Its membership is open to all interested students. Having been in existence for eight years, the chapel choir supplies special music for chapel services and leads the congregation in worship through music. The climax of the fall semester took the form of a Christmas Cantata on December 18.

Morlene Vest, a sophomore from Roanoke, Va., is director of the choir. Advisors are Mr. Harold G. Andrews, Jr., Dr. R. A. Smith, and Dr. Kenneth Taylor.

The Religious Education Club welcomes any student interested in religious education. The club has taken part in such activities as parties for the under-privileged children of Greensboro at Christmas and Easter.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION CLUB

The Chapel Committee, headed by Chairman Dr. Raymond Smith and Co-chairman Robert Wald, consists of faculty members and students from each class. The inspiring programs and speakers for Tuesday and Thursday chapel services are formulated by this group. This committee also works with the Arts and Lectures Committee in order to co-ordinate the two agendas.

COLLEGIAN

Sitting in the middle of the floor and hiding behind stacks of old newspapers . . . half-filled coffee cups . . . filled ash trays . . . the COLLEGIAN is born, nurtured and matured. The ideas and material are gathered and marched down to Arts and Sciences to be shared and pored over by the staff. Here the wrinkles are ironed out and the paper compiled. Then comes the never-ending race to the printer and twice a month that all important Friday arrives. All over the campus the sound can be heard, "thud, thud, thud. Our paper is here!"

It is with honor and pleasure that the yearbook staff presents to you the annual edition of the ECHO. In planning the yearbook, the staff worked with only one purpose in mind, and that was to retain your most cherished and exciting experiences—your ECHO of the year.

The Greensboro College campus and the surrounding atmosphere is one of casualness and friendliness. We have endeavored to give you a yearbook composed with the casual setting in mind. In addition, Greensboro College continues to carry many of the traditions upon which she was founded, one hundred and twenty-five years ago, and which are so dear to all who are members of the "G. C. Family." We have tried to include all the activities that will be most memorable to you in your reminiscent moments during later years.

The staff sincerely hopes you are pleased and that you will accept with little reservation our pictorial conception of Greensboro College—1962-63.

HANDBOOK

G. C. freshmen are well-acquainted with this pocket-size publication, as it is their pass key to a perfect score on the Handbook Rules and Regulations test which they take almost immediately after they arrive on campus in September. The Handbook contains a wealth of information about Greensboro College and its institutions as well as the college calendar of events and holidays.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

SANDY SMITH
President

The Publications Board endeavors to provide for G. C. students interesting and informative reading material in the four campus publications—the ECHO, COLLEGIAN, LYRE, and HANDBOOK. The editors and business managers of these publications, assisted by President Hutson, Dean Wold, Allen Kivett, public relations director, and faculty advisors compose this representative board.

The climax to an academic year's efforts is the annual publications banquet in the spring. At this time awards are given to outstanding members of the different staffs.

NEWS BUREAU

TOM WOOD
Director of News Bureau

The Greensboro College News Bureau, under the capable direction of Tom Wood, first and foremost endeavors to keep G. C. in the news. This is accomplished by regular contacts with Greensboro newspapers, hometown papers of the students, and also local radio and television stations. The News Bureau is also responsible for the publication of the REPORTER and the ALUMNI JOURNAL.

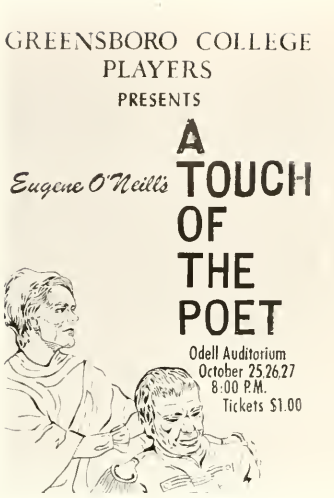
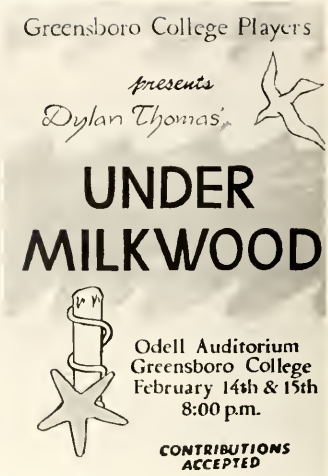
The Greensboro Players offers the student who is stage struck by big lights, leading roles, and the general thrill of acting, the opportunity to become a part of the opening night of an actual play production, with lights, costumes, make-up, sound, and the excitement of seeing their names in print.

The club, under the direction of Mr. Roger Wilbur, advisor, and Dr. Mary-Braeme Parker, ex facto, is an organization for furthering drama interest, and acts as a springboard for worthy, quality-filled drama presented both on campus and off. Each year the members themselves have experience directing one-act plays.

Highlighting the program activities of the year were Eugene O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet," presented in October, and directed by Mr. Wilbur, Dylan Thomas' "Under Milkwood," given in February, Dr. Parker directing, and "An Invitation to a March," given in May.





G. C. DRAMA – '62 - '63

Lee McKenzie and Ned Forster, stars of "Poet," taking a break between scenes

This year has been a triumphant one for Greensboro College's Vocal Ensemble and Players, beginning in October with Eugene O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet," presented by the Greensboro College Players, and followed in December by the Ensemble's "The Old Maid and the Thief," a comic opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti. "Under Milkwood" by Dylan Thomas was the February work of the Players. And in April the Vocal Ensemble's "G S." was presented. The final production of the year, the Players' "An Invitation To A March" by Arthur Laurents, won the satisfaction and praise of both faculty and students. All were artistic as well as enjoyable shows.

Moon over Miami palm-lined ocean front crystal canals of Ft. Lauderdale . . . shimmering waters of the Gulf . . . graceful skiers at Cypress . . . these are only a few memories of the Glee Club as they recall the Fall Tour to Florida, not to mention the strolls down Fifth Avenue and the gay lights of the Manhattan Tower city in the Spring Tour to New York. People and places are not all or most important with this active group, however. Fun, fellowship, teamwork, and a love for music and a willingness to learn more about it are combined to reap benefits such as mental growth and the ability to work with others. Highlights of the year included the two concerts in Odell and performing for the Schoolmasters' Dinner and Religious Emphasis Week.

NATIONAL STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

CAROLYNN ADAMS
President

LINDA TAYLOR, Secretary; CAROLYN RATCLIFFE, Treasurer
ELLEN PRITCHARD, Vice-President

The Braxton Craven Chapter of the Student Education Association is a branch of the National Education Association and a member of the North Carolina Education Association. This organization, with Dr. Zelda C. Pemberton as advisor, strives to acquaint students with the teaching profession, including how to cope with its problems and also realize its benefits.

Monthly meetings feature outstanding speakers in related fields, programs by classroom groups, and informative panel discussions. Every spring the president, Miss Representative Future Teacher, and elected delegates attend the N.C.E.A. Convention in Asheville, and these same delegates also attend the Raleigh Convention in the fall.

The Greensboro College Psychology and Special Education Club opens its membership to college students and the city of Greensboro. Throughout the year outstanding speakers in the fields of Psychology and Special Education are invited to the campus to encourage further interest in these fields and to advance the knowledge of the fields both on and off campus.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

"A stitch in time saves nine."

The Home Economics Club functions in order to develop and promote standards for the strengthening of home and family life in our society, by instilling these ideals in future homemakers. The members also become better acquainted with many of the professional opportunities of a graduate in Home Economics. The year's project was Sunday night spaghetti suppers for the students and faculty, and visits were made to Cone Mills and Guilford Galleries during some of the monthly meetings.

For another year, G. C. was privileged to an excellent Concert and Lecture Series. Teresa Y Su Compania Espanola presented quite an unbelievably beautiful and skillfully performed series of dances. The learned Dr Harlow Shapley presented some very astounding data about our universe. The various schools of art were presented by the distinguished art critic, Dr. Richard McLanathan, and the talented New York Woodwind Quintet performed both early and contemporory music. The noted sociologist and anthropologist Margaret Mead was the final speaker.

MODERN DANCE

Emotions and expressions come to life. The human form reveals in intricate movements the feelings of anger, fear, anxiety, chaos, and happiness, all interlaced into dance pantomimes and improvisations by the Greensboro College Modern Dance Club. The club provides an understanding of the basic fundamentals and scheduled for the purpose of practicing and preparing for special performances. The major performance goal is the Spring Recital.

DAY STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION

ELAINE WARE
President

The Day Students' Association provides fellowship and organization for G. C.'s day students. Their main activity takes place in December, when they sponsor the Christmas Dance along with the Athletic Associations.

Row 1: Peggy Neill; Judy Rough; Elaine Ware, Doris Cagle. Row 2: Emily Huckabee; Donna Martin, Bonnie Wagoner, Karen Cunningham; Linda Ball.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Frances Kwok and Ping Ting
"Calling Home?"

From Borneo and from the mainland of China, respectively, come two of the most familiar figures on campus—our two Chinese foreign students, Hie Ping Ting and Frances Kwok.

G. C. DAUGHTERS AND SONS

G. C. Daughters and Sons is composed of "second and third generation G C.ites"—the daughters and sons of the alumni. Its object is to promote a closer bond among these students. Programs at monthly meetings included such activities as a review of past rules and curriculum, a visit to and a discussion of the small museum in the basement of the library, and a banquet for the mothers during Parents' Weekend.

Seated: Betty Hood, Starr Bornhardt, Josephine Gibson, Peggy Walker, Russell King, Julie Smith, Leslie Lytle, Susan Wells, Mary Jane Vick. Standing: Elizabeth Matthews, Susan Deasley, Mary Lynn Bowen, Elizabeth Pugh, Miss Brock, Cecilia Turnage, Judy Harris, Judy Crotts, Peggy Gibson, Tommy Troxler.

A Strike???

Students enjoy the dance sponsored by the Athletic Commission and the Day Students Association

Coordination . . . manogement . . . stimulation . . . these ore the gools of the Athletic Commission. Their progrom is designed to provide othletic and recreational opportunities and to promote ideas of health and sportsmanship omong G C students throughout the year. These goals are achieved through the joint efforts of the Women's Recreation Association ond the Men's Athletic Associotion.

WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION

Two??

Left to Right Jeonette Cox, President, Gail Young, Vice-President; Pucky Lewis, Secretory-Treosurer.

The Women's Recreation Association provides a well-rounded program of recreational activities for G. C. women and complements the physical education program. The sports offered include tennis, badminton, horseshoes, volleyball, basketball, archery, shuffleboard, swimming, softball, and trock. Once a year, an Indoor Field Day is held, featuring contests in various indoor sports.

"It's done this woy, girls."

MEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

"We'll get them this time."

Joe Stephenson, Secretary-Treasurer; Jack Fields, President.

The Men's Athletic Association sponsors many sports events as well as intramural games, such as baseball, basketball, track, swimming and volleyball. Both team and individual tournaments are held, and trophies are presented to the victors at the close of each season. The M.A.A. helps stimulate competition and participation in men's athletics.

A perfect serve!

AQUABELLES

Row 1: J. Norvell, A. Johnson, S. Glover, S. Kellam, R. Vann, E. Cowan, M. Morrison. Row 2: A. Seagle, C. Hopkins, A. Bedingfield, D. Frost, T. Mescal, C. Upchurch, J. Lester. Row 3: Mr. Arigil, B. L. Gilbert, E. Matthews, M. Sonneborn, C. McDonnell, S. Carr, F. Clark, J. Brasington.

Left to right: Debbie Frost, Vice-President; Betty Lynn Gilbert, Secretary-Treasurer; Mr. Arigil, Advisor; Janet Brasington, President.

Underwater beauty in motion—lithe figures glide through sapphire water and clear bubbles trace their path—figure eights and flower formations with perfect timing—the Aquabelles have once again delighted everyone with their lovely Spring water show. This skillful group of girls meets once a week to enjoy the water and to rehearse for their programs. Besides the spring show, they also entertain during Parents' week-end.

SENIOR MARSHALS

ANN SMITH
Chief Marshal

Senior Marshal, Helen Brewer, offers "Mr. W" a program.

White dresses, green sashes, and smiling faces typify the Senior Marshals, who act as G. C. hostesses at community meetings, recitals, concert-lecture programs, graduation exercises and other college-sponsored events. The chief marshal is elected by the senior class and aids the Dean of Students in selecting the other marshals.
